We LOVE this bible cover! I have 2 blue ones for my son as well. One at school and one at home! The storage is GREAT! Very deep pockets! I've attached a video that shows you all the details and features. Very durable material. would definitely purchase again and again! I love that it's a color and "theme" that can grow with her!

WE bought this for my daughter's first bible and she loves it. The size is right, and allows her to carry her AWANA book in the outside pocket. The cover seems to have held up to the wear and tear so far and we pleased with the product.

Exactly what we expected. My daughter loves the bright pink color and all the compartments. It holds her bible, a journal and the offering with room to spare. We already have the blue bible cover for my older son, and I will buy another pink one for my youngest daughter when she is older. Excellent product!

Bought this for my 3 year old after purchasing one in a store for my 5 year old and not being able to find another one in the store. Was thrilled to find it online as I was hoping to find them matching ones. This is the perfect size for a larger Bible in which they will have as they grow. There are lots of storage pockets, for small notepads, tithing money and their various lip gloss and such! There are even 2 pen holders on the inside in which they use one for a highlighter. I love that this zips all the way around so they don't lose things out of it and there is a carry handle which is a must! The design is highly functional and I feel it is something they can use for years to come! I even got the backside monogrammed with their names and the product worked perfect for this!

An accurate, detailed description and video are given in another review so I won't go over that info again. I LOVE this cover. I did not buy it as a bible cover, but as a journal cover for my beloved Leuchtturm 1917 Dotted Berry Notebook (5.75 by 8.25 inches, 249 pages). I used a seam ripper and removed the "Adventure Bible" logo from the front of the cover. It came off easily, but did leave small holes from the stitching (see photo). It is not too noticeable, though I do plan on putting a patch or something on to cover them. I'm picky :) The fabric the cover is made out of is a bit stiff. This causes the case to get a bit "crunched" looking on the outside unless it is stuffed full. It isn't a big negative, but I have included a picture to show this. Even if you aren't traveling, this cover is a great way to keep all your favorite journaling goodies together right where you need them. The pockets on the outside give you plenty of room for lots of pens/ markers, post-its, big glue stick, scissors, washi tape, ruler, etc. (I have all of those things and more in mine!) The outside pockets have a little gap on the sides where the flap doesn't quite cover the depth of the pockets (see photo). I haven't had anything fall out yet, so it seems like it'll be ok. If you are worried you could add a bit of velcro there. On the inside there are two pen loops, and two slim pockets intended to hold the covers of the bible. I keep my journal inside one of the pockets, and varying items in the other. The pockets don't hold anything tightly, but it makes your journal not go flying out when you open it. The inside is quite large, and would hold two of the Leuchtturm journals and still leave room for more. For the price and features, you can't find a better journal cover. Note - The flash caused the journal to look very shiny in my photos. It's not. The color (minus shine) is represented faithfully.

Everything is great about this cover EXCEPT that it doesn't fit the leather Adventure Bible! The Bible will fit in the cover, but it slips out very easily. My daughter cannot open her Bible and the cover stay in tact. We will keep it because it is a very nice cover otherwise. It is frustrating that there are so many great children's Bibles on the market, but very few options for covers designed for kids!

This is a great bible cover - it has lots of pockets and places to put extra notebooks or paper for note-taking during classes. My kids use their bibles at Sunday School and at camp, so it is nice for them to be able to have somewhere to place the paper for their notes - and somewhere to put all of the paper they get to bring home. There are also a couple of slots to hold pencils/pens so that everything you need is right at hand. Perfect! The reason this was given 4 stars instead of 5 is that the bible tends to slip out of the inside pockets during use, leaving it unprotected as the kids are not likely to put it back in while using it. They just close the cover back, leaving it out of the pockets on the inside (so it is closed in the cover, but not encased on the inside). They are using the Adventure Bible's this cover was made for, so it seems the cover is a bit oversized or not-quite-the-right-design for the bible. However, we love the other features enough to overlook this one!

I love this cover! I am tired of my kids destroying bibles and their bindings. This cover works well and my daughter loves the pocket on the front to keep a pencil/pen/stickers, etc. My only complaint is that the Adventure Bible Junior Bible does not fit in it very well. The bible very easily falls out if the kiddo tries to pick it up when it is unzipped. This is frustrating, but overall it serves its purpose and will work better when she gets the older kid Adventure bible.
